

A FAMOUS METEORITE

WILLAMETTE "IRON" PRESENTED TO GOTHAM MUSEUM.

The Gift of Mrs. William E. Dodge, Who Purchased It at a Cost Said to Exceed $20,000—Is Fifth of Collection.

New York.—To some people on the globe the American Museum of Natural History would represent a shrine of great importance, and the ponderous truck which transported the other day the famous Willamette meteorite from the river front to the museum a chariot of the gods. With the addition of the 15-ton Willamette meteorite, or "iron," the museum will be able to establish its hall of cosmogony and present to the view of the public the finest collection of meteorites ever placed on exhibition. In all ages and lands these masses of metal, which have come hurtling from the skies, accompanied by magnificent pyrotechnical displays, have been worshipped as golden images.

The meteorite which was received at the museum on April 14 was found in the Willamette valley, Oregon, near the banks of the Tualatin river in 1902. After much litigation between the owner of the land on which it was found and the finder, it was bought by Mrs. William E. Dodge at a cost said to be $20,000, the largest sum ever paid for an "iron." She gave it to the museum. It is ten feet 3 1/2 inches long, seven feet across the base, four feet high and 25 feet four inches in circumference at the base. Its exact weight is 31,107 pounds. While traces of cobalt and phosphorus are found in the mass, there being more than 80 per cent. of the former and nearly eight per cent. of the latter. While by no means the largest meteorite known, it is of especial interest because of its deeply scored sides. The theory has been advanced that this scoring is due to the friction caused by the tremendous compression of the air as the meteorite swept along with almost the speed of light in its course toward the earth. Because of this friction few aerolites reach the earth. They are dissipated

In midair, the first evidence of their destruction being the fiery wake which forms the beauty of the "shooting star." When one does reach the earth it comes in a flaming chariot which lights up the earth for miles around. It is said that when the Athens meteor appeared in 1873 all of Greece was lighted momentarily. It is thought that when the Willamette meteor fell its light must have been dazzling to the eyes a hundred miles from the spot where it struck.

The strange, unexplained appearance of these flaming stones has led to their worship in all times and countries. One of the oldest meteors known stands in a corner of a temple in Mecca. Its name is the Right Hand of God. It is said that long before Mahomet's time it was worshipped by Arabian tribes. Another meteor which was once the object of worship fell at some unknown time near Pessinus on the border between Phrygia and Galatia. It was set up and worshipped by the cult of Cybele. When Hannibal was approaching Rome the Sibylline books were consulted. The response was that whenever a foreign enemy should enter Italy he could be expelled if the meteorite, called the Idæan Mother, were brought from Pessinus to Rome. This was done, and Hannibal was forced back to Africa. A temple was thereupon erected to the honor of Cybele and the stone worshipped in it. It is supposed that the image which fell down from Jupiter, mentioned in Acts 19:35, was a meteorite. Meteorites which have fallen in countries occupied by primitive peoples within the last century have been made objects of veneration.

The Museum of Natural History has four great meteors beside the Willamette. One of these, the one lying under the arch of the entrance, is believed to be the largest in the world. It, with two of the others, was brought by Capt. Peary from the arctic regions. One of those at the museum is an extremely rare specimen because it contains a diamond. The collection is considered one which cannot be duplicated. Those which rank next are in the British museum and the school of mines, Mexico City.

Owens Nearly Whole Town.

J. E. Henry, a millionaire lumberman and manufacturer, practically owns the flourishing little town of Henryville, N. H. He has been judge, jury, chief of police, etc., in the place for years. One of his sons is selectman, another is postmaster and a third is now justice of the peace. Mr. Henry pays 50 per cent. of the village taxes. During the 15 years he has been boss of the place he has not allowed liquor to be sold there, and any man who indulges in intoxicants is promptly ordered to leave. The village has 1,000 population and all the voters except four are in Mr. Henry's employ.

PREPARE TO CROWN KING.

Haakon of Norway to Receive Insignia of Throne in Trondheim Cathedral in June

Trondheim, Norway.—Active preparations for the coronation of King Haakon and Queen Maud are now in progress. The ancient cathedral in which the ceremony is to take place has been almost completely restored, and is in a splendid condition.

Many visitors from all parts of Europe and from America are expected to be present. Among the royal personages who are almost sure to come are the crown prince and princess of Denmark, the prince and princess of Wales. There will probably be many others, as the king is more or less closely related to the chief reigning families of Europe. A large host of foreign warships will assemble in the harbor of Trondheim to assist in celebrating the occasion. The date for the ceremony has not been definitely fixed as yet, but it will be in the last week of June, or a little more than a year from the date of the separation from Sweden.

There is a well-defined caste among the people of Trondheim that the royal couple should live during at least a part of the year in this city, and with that end in view the citizens have exerted themselves in providing a comfortable residence for the king and queen. A large sum of money has been raised toward making the living rooms in the palace pleasant and home-like. The government appropriated a considerable sum toward restoring "Stiftsgaarden," as the royal residence is called here, to its former position, a building to it a fine festival hall and far surpassing most of the rooms.

WHEN PAPERS WERE FEW

Facsimile of a Publication Printed in London Over a Hundred Years Ago.

London.—The fat octavo volume of the title page of which this is a facsimile and which went down from the press into the eager possession of Thomas Molyneux, who carefully wrote his name upon it in July, 1802, has, in lieu of preface, the following explanation:

"Advertisement.—From the delay that has taken place in the publication of this fifth volume, it may be proper to acquaint our readers, by stating that the exorbitant price of printing paper at the beginning of this year would have rendered it impossible to have defrayed the expenses of publication without increasing the price of the book. It was, therefore, considered as a preferable measure, to wait for more favorable circumstances, and then to deliver the work to the public at the price of the former volume. The editors will, the Editor affirms himself, be bound to compile an unusual and pleasing variety, and to have been too well with perfect impartiality, but he pledges himself to observe the same unbiased conduct in the further prosecution of the work."

Becomes Skeptical with Age.

The venerable Prof. Alexander Stephens, M. D., of the New York College of Physicians and Surgeons, said in a recent lecture in his medical class: "The older physicians grow the more skeptical they become of the virtues of medicine and the more they are disposed to trust to the powers of nature. Notwithstanding all our boasted improvements, patients suffer as much as they did 40 years ago. The reason medicine has advanced slowly is because physicians have studied the writings of the predecessors instead of nature."

THE GENTLE WOMAN'S FAITH

Sunday School Lesson for June 3, 1906
Specially Prepared for This Paper

LESSON TEXT: Mark 7:24-30. Memory Verse: 26.
GOLDEN TEXT: "Great is thy faith, be it unto thee even as thou wilt." Matt. 15:28.

TIME.—Summer, A. D. 29, a few weeks after last lesson.

PLACE.—On border of country of Tyre and Sidon, 6 or 7 miles northwest of Sea of Galilee.

Comment and Suggestive Thought: V. 21. "From thence" went.

From Capernaum or its vicinity, Jesus and the twelve went into the neighborhood of Tyre. "Borders." The country district within the domain of the cities named. "Would have no man know it." He did not wish notoriety of any sort. He had come hither and He might quietly teach His disciples. "Could not be hid." It soon became known that the great Healer was there.

V. 25. "For." What is about to be told brought Him such joy that it probably accounts for His entry into this region. In the Rev. Ver. this verse begins with "But she said." Immediately upon learning of the arrival of a woman who had a child and sought Him out, "Young daughter," a little child, "that was an unclean spirit." She was the victim of what was known as demoniac possession. "Heard of Him." Perhaps some of the neighbors had been among those who looked to Galilee to see and hear Jesus (Mark 3:8).

V. 26. "A Greek." Probably she spoke the Greek language. Syrophenician. She was a Phoenician by race, and lived in the portion of the country known as Syria, some other Phoenicians lived in northern Africa, and were termed Libya Phoenicians. "Sought Him." His companion, Mary, knew a woman with that name, and she saw that the following conversation took place.

Woman.—Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David, my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.

Jesus remains silent.

Disciples.—Send her away, for she crieth after us.

Jesus to disciples.—I am not sent but into the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

Woman (tossing up)—Lord, help me!

Jesus (to woman)—Let the children first be filled, for it is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it unto the dogs.

Woman.—Truth, Lord, for the dogs under the table eat of the children's crumbs.

Jesus.—(To woman, great is thy faith, be it unto thee even as thou wilt, thy way, the devil is gone out of thy daughter.

As we see how Jesus tried the woman, first by His silence, then by apparent rebuff, we feel sure that He was trying to bring her into the household of faith, that she as well as her daughter, might be blessed.

V. 27. "Let the children first be filled." Jesus' words to the disciples (see above), which she had heard, would give her to understand that the meek Gentiles must wait until Israelites were provided for. "Not meet." Not fitting. "Unto the dogs." The Jews thought that they alone were children of God, and they called people of other nations "dogs," to indicate that their lives were unclean, and perhaps that they "barked" at true Godliness.

V. 28. "She answered." One of weak faith might have gone home discouraged or perhaps resentful. But this woman's faith was enlightened by mother-love, and she was ready to hear anything if she might win her daughter's restoration. "Yes, Lord." She agreed to what Jesus said, and addressed Him as the sovereign Lord of mankind. "Yet the dogs." The woman humbly accepts what He says and from the truth of the proverb draws a new plea.

V. 29. "For this saying." Because of the faith and love shown by this saying. Jesus was greatly pleased by her faith, for it put her where He could bless her, she had opened her heart to Him. See Matthew's rendering in our Golden Text. "The devil is gone out." Jesus had not seen or touched the child, but He assures the mother that she is cured.

V. 30. "Was come to her house." Believing Jesus' word, she hastened homeward and found her daughter, released from her malady. "Full"—or more literally "thrown"—upon the bed. Probably a convulsion had accompanied her release. What a happy home that humble cottage now became! Note the obstacles which this woman overcame. (1) Nationality; she was to Jews a foreigner. (2) Religion; she was a Pagan and a Gentile. (3) Speech; she was a Greek, a Gentile. (4) Sex; she was a woman, and not accustomed to appear in public. Beyond all these, Jesus, Himself, seemed to put obstacles in her way.

Practical Points.

V. 25. Sooner or later Christ and the seeking soul are sure to meet.—1 Chron. 28:9.

V. 26. Each soul is tormented by demons of sin, which only Christ can cast out.—Rom. 7:21, 25.

V. 27. When Jesus seems deaf to our cry, He is opening the way and awaiting the time for sending the largest possible answer.—Jas. 1:3, 4.

V. 28. Every difficulty surmounted lifts us higher, makes our faith stronger.—1 Pet. 1:7.

V. 29. Nothing can stand before the who depends on God.—1 John 5:4.

ABOUT FLOOR COVERINGS.

Danlin May Be Used to Cover Center of Worn Carpet—Kings of Home-Make.

It is real economy to cover the floor of two or more rooms with the same kind of carpet, then when they become worn through the center the best part can be put together to make one carpet.

Many housekeepers use a large square of denim in the middle of the room when the floor is covered with a thin carpet, or with one that is badly worn. It saves the carpet several fully and is made by sewing several widths of denim together. The sure and select denim that will do well with the carpet. It is said that denim itself makes a very satisfactory floor covering for hallways. It covers thick masses of paper are piled underneath.

It is a real blessing to the carpet because that rug, when it is as popular as denim covering, as there are so many ways of making them at home by using the cut-off and the grown garments. It is a good thing to have the carpet looms woven into tape. Instead of the old-fashioned rag carpets.

The rug look very neat and pretty. If they have a solid middle of one plain color with a contrasting border, the middle may be of the red and blue and the border of a green and white. One had the middle of a green with a red and white border. The other had a blue center with a striped white border.

White and light blue denim can be covered all of the floor under the bed and under the bed with the same for work. The women say they find it easier to make than the old-fashioned rag carpets, and that it is much better than the rug, and for a few dollars a year the carpet weaver will do the work. Pringle Farmer.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

If alum is added to the paste used in covering books with paper, the paper looks much of color with the alum.

Hot and fruit should be removed from white linen and not be put in the water, but a few drops of alum, then washing in hot water.

Allow a shorter cooking for lamb to be cooked by steaming than the usual will require during the summer months the lower temperature of steam.

You can free a metal faucet of the "crustiness" formed and keep the faucet from clogging by pouring on the faucet a little of the pan set upon the stove to the faucet. Shut the gas or water valve, vinegar poured upon the faucet, and the pan and faucet will be clean.

In shaking blankets and coats always be taken to catch them about a foot from the ceiling. There was a time when it was tearing them.

Skewer baked fish with thin slices of salt pork or bacon. Fresh fish will be improved in flavor if fried in fat used previously for the same purpose.

Coffee and tea stains if rubbed with butter and afterward washed in hot soapwater, will come out, leaving the table linen quite white and fresh.

To have smoky kitchen fires from smoke or odor when frying greasy cakes try adding one teaspoonful of melted lard to the butter and do not grease the article.

If you suspect that public has been colored with copper and only appear yourself with a very simple test. Put some pieces of the public in a bowl containing a mixture of equal parts of ammonia and water. If there is no copper present the liquid will remain blue in color. Chicago Daily News.

Rice Croquette

One cupful rice, one quart milk, one tablespoonful chopped onion, one of four eggs, salt and pepper to taste. Wash well the rice, put in a bowl, in a fat pan with the milk or one cold boiled rice, and set to boil with the milk after pressing through a sieve. If the rice has not been boiled let it boil about an hour. It has been already cooked 25 minutes will suffice. When quite thick take from the fire and beat until smooth, measuring all the grains. Then add the well beaten yolks of the eggs and cook eight or ten minutes longer. Add the parsley and seasoning, blend the white pepper. Take from the fire and mix well, and turn out in a pan and let it cool. Then form little round cylinders about three inches long and one and one-half inch. Fry in hot oil, in beaten eggs, then in bread crumbs and fry in boiling hot fat. Drain and serve with any meat covered with gravy.

Bread Pudding

Use two cups of stale bread crumbled, two cups milk, one cup flour, one cup sugar, one egg yolk, a tablespoonful of melted butter, three eggs, two small teaspoonfuls baking powder and a half teaspoonful each of common salt and cream of tartar for two hours in a well-buttered mold. Serve with meringue and drop of currant jelly on top.

Sweet Potato Fritters

A pint of hot mashed sweet potatoes, two eggs, a cupful of flour, into which has been sifted a teaspoonful of baking powder, salt and enough milk to make a batter. Drop the batter, a tablespoonful at a time, in deep fat, smoking hot, and cook to a light brown. Tomato sauce may be served with the fritters.

ROAD AND ARM MOVEMENT

by Edward K. Parkin

Comment by Editor

Country Gentleman.

Roads that have ever been constructed by the human hand are to-day almost perfect. What roads should be, that a width of 30 feet, a depth of heavy stone at the bottom, often one or more layers of cement to make the road surface, the two cuts show the type of an ancient Roman road.

It has been argued that such roads were too much to build in these days. To be sure the cost would be enormous, but the final cost would, on the whole, be much less.

The Roman roads are 1,600 years old and are still in fair condition. It will say for the sake of the modern macadam road that it is not so durable. A road of 20 years without having to be practically reconstructed is a record. To the extent of half the cost, a new road will be built.

TYPE OF OLD ROMAN ROAD.

It is paid for every 10 years. In 1,600 years the age of the Roman roads we shall find that a mile of Roman road is not so much as a mile of modern road, which is a fact that is not generally known.

It is a fact that the cost of a mile of modern road is not so much as a mile of Roman road, which is a fact that is not generally known. It is a fact that the cost of a mile of modern road is not so much as a mile of Roman road, which is a fact that is not generally known.

CONQUERING SQUASH BUG.

Best Methods of Protecting the Vines from the Ravages of This Pest.

After the squash, cucumbers and melons are well started the squash bug makes its appearance. Those who have a garden know the flat, rusty-black creature with its vile odor. In spring or early summer the eggs are laid on the leaves and stems of plants, sometimes singly, but usually in groups of from 12 to 50. They are brownish-yellow and easily found. Fortunately the insect confines its attention almost entirely to cucurbitaceous plants.

As the bugs grow they scatter over the leaves, molting five times before they reach maturity. Naturally the plant is weakened by such attention. A leaf that has nourished many bugs will turn yellow, and if the pests are numerous enough the whole plant may be killed. It is sometimes claimed that the long stings the leaf and kills it, but it would be more to the point to say that the leaf is tapped and its life blood sucked out. In autumn the adult bug crawls under a board, stone or rubbish and remains till spring.

The nymphs may be killed by a spray of kerosene emulsion or tobacco water, as their bodies are soft and unprotected. But the old bugs are proof against this kind of treatment. Their hard-shelled backs protect them. The most practicable remedy thus far seems to be hand picking, says the Orange Judd Farmer. It should begin with the first bug and be repeated at short intervals. The last time for it is in the morning while it is cool and the bugs sluggish.

A convenient way is to drop the bugs into a can containing water with a little kerosene. The bugs will swim in clear water, but the film of oil on the surface is sure death. Boards or slinkies placed on the ground are an assistance in gathering the bugs. They will seek these shelters in mid-afternoon and remain dormant till it is warm in the morning when they can easily be gathered. Crushing the eggs of the leaves is a preventive measure that should not be neglected.

So far as my experience goes, the best way to guard against the bug is to plant the vines among potatoes. It has rarely found them there. I have grown good crops of squashes in this way and found few or none of the insects, though in other places they were numerous.

HAY DOORS IN BARN.

Placing Tracks for Them on an Incline Will Facilitate Opening Them.

There has been great trouble in finding a suitable method of hanging doors for unloading hay with fork or slings from the outside of building. The method described by my diagram will think the very best. Place your track on an incline with the roof, and put on rollers on the doors at the same incline. They will open very easily, says Rural New Yorker, and shut hard, but they can easily be managed from inside.

MUZZLE FOR CORN PLOWING.

Necessary Protection When Cultivating the Growing Crop.

This wire muzzle is very easy to make and is much better than the bull muzzle. For cultivating corn or drilling wheat in corn muzzles is always necessary, says a correspondent of the Farm and Home, and I have made muzzles out of smooth wire, like one, which have proved first class. They do not scratch the muzzles of the horses or trouble their breathing as do cloth bags, etc.

WIRE MUZZLE.

JOTTINGS.

Try to harrow an acre after plowing as possible.

Two good stalks of corn in a hill is the best number.

An even stand of three stalks of corn in a hill is desirable and will give better results than more or less.

Most farmers take their chances on the germinability of seed. This fact is the cause of much loss every year.

The quickest way to start sprouts of Irish potatoes is to cut them in small pieces, lay in flats, cover with sand, and place them in a light, warm place.

Why spend much time in trying to make the bean poles set firmly? Just tie them together at the top in groups of four and so form pyramid-shaped stalks.

The Water Supply.

It is fine to have plenty of good water on the farm for everything, and some means should be resorted to to get such a supply if it is lacking. The gasoline engine simplifies this proposition very much.

Have Straight Rows.

Don't be satisfied with crooked rows. Nothing adds to the appearance of a field more than straight rows, besides they are more easily cultivated.

Poor Seed Corn.

late, poor seed corn is planted in an uneven stand may be expected. Lots of barren or unfilled stalks, ears which are even and well set at both ends, then shell and the grain through a fanning mill a strong blast to blow out the light seed.

A WOMAN'S ORDEAL.

DREADS DOCTOR'S QUESTIONS.

Thousands Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and Receive Valuable Advice Absolutely Confidential and Free.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female diseases.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female life, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician. Read how Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T.C. Willadsen of Manning, Ia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had tried for over two years to get well, and spent lots of money in medicine, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female troubles and would tell you about it, but I was too shy to do so. I had been told that I had a bad case of female troubles, and I was very nervous and finally I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do and all recovered to get well. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

NO KOWTOWING FOR HIM.

Hotel Man Who Was Not to Be Overawed by Dignitaries of State.

They tell this one on former Gov. George Hoody of Ohio:

Once upon a time, in the midst of a campaign, Mr. Hoody was to deliver a speech at a little town in the great and glorious Buckeye State. When he reached the one hotel the town boasted he walked up to the register and wrote his name. The proprietor-head-porter-steward-head-waiter-depot-runner was behind the desk in his shirt sleeves, his hat on the back of his head, and a cigar stump held between his teeth. When the visitor had put down his John Hancock, the factotum turned the register around, read without the flicker of an eyelid the name there written, wrote "10" beside it with a lead pencil, and said:

"You kin just take yer grip right up that stairway there an' back down the hall clean to th' end. Yer room's right on th' left hand side of th' hall, in th' corner—number 10."

With considerable astonishment and not a little injured dignity Ohio's chief executive pointed to his name, smiled faintly, and said:

"I am George Hoody."

"Yep; I notice," said the rustic without turning a hair. "An' yer room's right there at th' end of th' hall—number 10. Can't miss it."

With more hauteur, and almost quivering with outraged impudence, the guest said impressively:

"I am George Hoody, governor of the state of Ohio!"

Turning, then, with a look of exasperated impudence on his face, the hotel man exclaimed:

"Well, what if ye expect me t' do kina yet?"—Judge.

DIFFERENCE OF DEGREE.

Both Parted Their Hair in the Middle, But One's Part Was Much the Wider.

One of the veteran lawyers of Burlington, Vt., is A. V. Spalding, writes F. H. Kelley of Lowell, in the Boston Globe. One day when he was trying a case in the Chittenden county court he called as a witness a stylishly dressed young man who parted his hair in the middle, a practice that used to be regarded as indicative of a "dude." The young man, however, gave his testimony in a plain, straightforward manner and resumed his seat.

When the argument came to be made by the counsel opposed to Mr. Spalding, reference was made in a peculiarly cutting manner to the foppish looking witness who parted his hair in the middle.

On rising to reply, Mr. Spalding said: "I fail to see how the fact that this young man parts his hair in the middle has any bearing in this case. He certainly has a right to part his hair in the middle, and he parts it exactly as my brother on the other side does his, only," he added, pointing to the perfectly bald head of the opposing lawyer, "he doesn't part it quite so wide."

CHEAPER FARM LANDS

Southwest Offers Best Opportunities For Securing Homes.

Many farmers in the Northern and Eastern states are selling their high priced lands and locating in the Southwest. Many who have been unable to own their homes in the older country are buying land in the new country.

Unusual opportunities exist along the lines of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain Route. The rich, alluvial, delta lands and river bottom lands of Southeast Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, capable of producing 60 bushels of corn, a bale of cotton, 4 to 6 tons of alfalfa, 150 bushels of potatoes, and other grains, vegetables and hay crops, can be bought for $7.50 to $15.00 per acre. When cleared and slightly improved will rent for $1.00 to $5.00 per acre cash.

Uplands more rolling, lighter soil, adapted to fruit growing—peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries, also melons, tomatoes and other vegetables, can be bought for $5 to $10 per acre in unimproved state. Many places with small clearings and some improvements can be bought very cheap.

This is a fine stock country. No long winter feeding. Free range, pure water, mild climate. A healthy growing country, with a great future.

Write for map and descriptive literature on Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Kansas and Indian Territory. Very cheap rates on first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Watson's Magazine

The leading exponent of Jeffersonian Democracy, edited by Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, the Father of Rural Free delivery, author of "The Story of France," "Life of Napoleon," "Life and Times of Thomas Jefferson," "Bletheny" and other books. Mr. Watson was the People's Party nominee for Vice-President in 1896, and for President in 1904. He is today heading a middle-class reform movement which is bound to sweep the country in a short time.

Watson's Magazine is not a Socialist publication. It does not stand for collective ownership for all the means of production. Mr. Watson believes in public or government ownership of railroad, telegraphs and telephones, in municipal ownership of street railways, gas, electric lights, water works, etc.; and he believes in private ownership of all industries not natural monopolies.

The middle class—the home owners, farmers, small business men and property owners won Jefferson's victory in 1804, won Jackson's victory over Nick Hiddle's money power in 1832, won Lincoln's victory in 1860. But each time after the flush of victory had died away, they became careless of their rights and went to sleep. They have slept a good portion of the time since 1860, but—

Watson's Magazine is waking them up. Another great victory is in the air. Keep in touch with the movement.

Modest Gray In High Fashion

In the spring a young girl's fancy earnestly turns to thoughts of gown to wear on the momentous occasion she receives her diploma, and it is none too early to consider trends of this character. The June bride, the July graduate, the summer girl, all take deepest interest just now in flimsy finery.

And flimsy it is to be sure, summer stuffs so fine and thin and cobwebby Colored silks will be worn under the transparencies, the wearer of course, choosing the most becoming color; bravely eschewing fashionable rose shades if they make her look blousy, keeping to that old standby—pale blue—If it is most kindly to her complexion.

In the gowns here illustrated we have two distinct styles, the princess and laps of lace. The sleeves come just to the elbow, and are edged with a modest lace frill. The original (and many that are copied for street wear) has a neat little belt of aid, but for more elaborate occasions a girlish flowered silk ribbon should be chosen, the girlish narrow and with a dip at the front.

Many skirts are trimmed elaborately, some scarcely at all. A nice white voile had as the only adornment some nun's folds on the skirt and a little good lace on gulupe and short sleeves. One may pay a shilling a yard for one's frock, or ten times that sum—and after all there does not appear such a great difference in the finished product. A dotted Swiss makes up very prettily and is so fresh and dainty looking.

effect and the finger-like blouse that has retained its line. The princess is a modified one, and is well adapted to the slender, girlish figure. The unattractive short waist line is hidden by trimming. There is a lovely fancy yoke of bands of valencienne insertion and fine ticks shape the bodice to the figure. A broad inset band of lace and medallion constitutes the skirt. The skirt is very full at the bottom and is trimmed with insertion and lace ruffles. The material used is the sheersat lawn.

Materials employed for such dresses are tulle, lawn, organdies, handkerchief linen, organdies, China and India silks. A soft white silk frock is very suitable for the sweet girl graduate, and no doubt not a few of this season's graduates will appear in the accordion-plated silk dresses that are called after that charming actress, Fritz Schell, who wore the original "Fritz Schell" in the opera "Mlle. Mathilde." It is a simple little frock, but very fetching, the skirt a frilly accordion-plated affair depending from a short yoke. The bodice is also accordion-plated and has a chemise

Make the skirt with a Spanish flounce, having a small heading and perhaps a couple of ticks at the bottom. New skirt patterns for wash dresses are not the regular circular skirt, but the dress when finished looks very much as though made after the circular pattern and is better because it will not sag.

Most elaborate embroidered dress lengths may be bought at the store and the fashioning of a dress therefrom be a simple matter, but for our part we care more for the sheer new materials and fluffy trimming than for heavy elaboration. This, of course, is a matter of individual taste.

The girl graduate of 1906 may wear posies in her tresses, for there is a return to adornment of the coiffure. Such dear little garlands of rosebuds form a half-wreath about the great coil of hair worn low on the neck, or a single large rose may be tucked in one side high piled tresses worn pompadour style. Flowers are again worn in the corsage, too—this year we shall have the good old conventional fluffy summer girl, posies in her belt, posies in her hair.

"Graduating" and Summer Frocks.

In the show windows of the big stores we see beautiful gray stockines on display, there are show cases full of gray handbags, gray gowns full of gray, and in millinery gray is noticeable to an unusual degree.

Gray and white would once have appeared a rather colorless combination, but today is exceedingly chic. Gray tulle bows adorn neckwear on gray gowns, gray veils float from gray hats. To be sure, the gray hats as a rule are litten by some intense color, cerise or coral, or it may be yellow or green. Gray and green make an effective contrast, and when the colors are becoming the result is charming. Just the tone to give refreshing on a warm day.

GRAY FRAW WITH YELLOW ROSES

The gray shades are likewise charming, there are gun-metal tones, pearl gray, ambers, dull finished kids in several shades of gray, and gray canvas ties. Of course, gray spats are procurable. Then, to jump from shoes to parasols, over us lady's hand floats and dips a gray parasol—this surely a novelty. There are gray silk umbrellas, too, gray belt, gray petticoats—gray everything. And, as they always do, the men have followed in the women's lead, gray rules at present in men's apparel.

If one does not care to array oneself all in Quaker tones, one may use but a touch of gray and attain desired style. A gray veil or chon or gloves or belt is suggested. And in hand bags the variety of beautiful things in gray appears infinite; as gray is a color that may be used with any costume, a gray bag is an economical investment. Another good investment will be one of the pretty new silk frocks in gray, simple and dainty and neat. These promise to enjoy great favor, and the new gray mohairs are equally good. The latter are indistinctly plaited, but the effect is gray. A new black and white silk has a gray line running through it, giving it the stamp of fashion.

There are nice gray mohair petticoats, some gray and black striped ones, lovely gray silk skirts, and petticoats in neutral tones. So many gray velvets being worn, a petticoat to match is essential and all shades are offered, from dull gun-metal to softest pearl gray. A changeable gray is very pretty, nothing to be found of softer coloring than gray and white.

Recently observed a gray and white transparent frock—could not make out just what the material was, looked like a silk muslin, but seemed to have more body, the skirt trimmed only with wide ticks, the blouse simply with a little flimsy lace. This frock would be very pretty worn with a white chip hat having a gray feather across the back and a wreath of white roses about the crown. One of the new long veils might be draped about it, the draping long veil restored to full favor. No doubt as the season advances we shall have numbers of gray wash dresses, and these will be selected not only by the gray haired dame, but also by the apple checked maid.

The tailors are making up some daint gray waists in severe tailored style, these to be worn with gray skirts, and they also have the black and white striped silks which give a gray effect. While lingerie waists will be with us all summer, there is a tendency to return to simpler styles, silk and net waists not trimmed with much elaboration. A new waist is a sheer black net, handsomely embroidered. The black chiffon waist is in style and also the black lace waist.

ELLEN OSMOND

Heaviest of Railway Rails.

What are believed to be the heaviest rails in use on any steam railroad in the world are on the belt line around Philadelphia. They weigh 142 pounds to the yard. Concrete with aluminum girders are used with heavy ballast to make a firm roadbed. One railroad official states this section of roadbed will last for 25 years without repairs. This would mean a material reduction in maintenance expense to the road using these rails.

Sure Muscles.

Prominent athletes throughout the country find that the best treatment for sore muscles after severe exercise or hard work of any kind, is a hot bath at bed time, which opens the pores. This should immediately be followed with an application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm vigorously rubbed into the skin. This liniment removes all stiffness and soreness and has become a favorite rub down, as it acts promptly and keeps the muscles in excellent condition. For sale by Haynes & Taylor, the enterprising druggists, of Marion.

THE "DODGING PERIOD" of a woman's life, is the name often given to the "change" which comes at long intervals, and grows steadily more frequent. Some women stop suddenly. The entire change lasts for four years, and it is the cause of much pain and distress which can, however, be cured, by taking

WINE OF CARDUI Woman's Relief

It quickly relieves the pain, nervousness, irritability, headache, etc., etc. Cardui will bring you steady, happy, and build up your strength for the future. At all druggists in $1.00 bottles. Try it.

WRITE US A LETTER

Describe your trouble, telling us all your symptoms. We will send you a bottle of Cardui, sealed envelope. Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"EVERYTHING BUT DURE"

I suffered, writes a woman of Easton, Md., "everything but Cardui, which cured me in a short time. My doctor, who didn't know taking it."
